The Club is delighted to welcome General Sir Richard Barrons for a lunch on Tuesday 2nd June, where he will share his views on the ever changing landscape of war in the 21st Century.

General Richard served as Commander Joint Forces Command, one of the six Chiefs of Staff leading the UK Armed Forces from 2013-2016. He has a global role with CAE UK Plc, working on government relations and strategy, primarily around the evolution of national and alliance-scale synthetic environments, and is Co-Chairman of Universal Defence & Security Solutions.

All proceeds from the lunch will go towards General Richard's chosen charity, the Ulysses Trust, a charitable organisation which aims to change lives through outdoor challenges.

We do hope you can join for what promises to be an extremely informative and thought provoking lunch.
